

POETRY.

THE HICKORY TREE.

Some who have complained that they cannot see any meaning in Hickory poles, may think differently after reading the following Ode, written for the raising of the Hickory tree at Washington, by Wm. A. Weaver.

Freemen, raise the Hickory tree,
Our standard bearer it shall be;
The emblem of the cause that's just—
No longer let it trail in dust,
But to point to him in whom we trust—
To Heaven the Hickory tree.

On Saratoga's field of yore,
The hill the date the Hickory bore;
Our grandfathers fought beneath its shade,
And forefathers fell in every glade,
By shot, or shell, or glistening blade—
Where grew the Hickory tree.

And patriot sires on Yorktown's plain,
Shed their pure blood, not bled in vain,
To save their altars, hearts and soil,
From the invader's grasp and spoil,
And nights were spent in battle toil—
Beneath the Hickory tree.

And Camden's plain, and Eutaw's spring,
Heard the loud artillery ring;
At Guilford's Court was heard the clash
Of bayonet, and the whirlwind dash
Of cavalry, with ball and flash—
All by the Hickory tree.

Where rolls Ohio's silver tide,
And her pure waters sparkling glide,
Beneath the shade red warriors slept,
Or still unceasing vigil kept
O'er a fair captive there who wept—
Bound to the Hickory tree.

But there was one who knew to trace,
Like sleuth hound, to their resting place!
Hark! the sharp crack of rifle rings,
A leaden death is sent on wings—
'Tis Boone, who from the covert springs!
Blood fed the Hickory tree.

Where rolls the Mississippi's tide,
"BEAUTY AND BOOZY" for his guide,
At length a fierce invader came—
Strong in arms and high in fame—
The Briton met defeat and shame,
Where grew the cypress tree.

To that fair wind your banner fling,
With "NO BARK" let the welkin ring,
"No Distribution" o'er our boat,
But "POLK AND DALLAS" proudly float,
And "TEXAS" be the rallying shout,
Around the Hickory tree.

The Constitution and the laws,
We go for, with the "VETO CLAUSE";
"MONOPOLIES" here none shall reign,
While flows the warm blood through each vein,
But "EQUAL RIGHTS" we will maintain,
By the old Hickory tree.

Then freemen, raise the Hickory tree,
Our standard bearer it shall be;
The emblem of a cause that's just—
No longer let it trail in dust,
But point to Heaven, in which we trust,
Young Hickory's favorite tree.

AN INSULT WELL ANSWERED.

At a late democratic meeting in Virginia, Maj. Davezac (Jackson's companion in arms at New Orleans) was one of the speakers. After he had concluded, a whig asked the privilege of replying, which was granted, when he commenced taunting Maj. Davezac with being a foreigner, to which he replied:

"Sir: I am sorry to interrupt you, but I can permit no man to use such language in my presence. Judging from your appearance, I was an American citizen before you were born. I have a son, born an American citizen, older than you. As for myself, I have been four times naturalized. I was naturalized by the sanctity of the treaty of Louisiana, the highest form of law known to the Constitution. The rights of an American citizen were conferred upon me by the law creating the territorial government of Louisiana; and I was admitted to all the rights, blessings and obligations which belong to you, my fellow citizens, by the law bringing the State of Louisiana into our glorious Confederacy." Then turning to the Whig speaker, his eye flashed as on the plains of New Orleans, and his heart swelling with the majesty of old recollections, he continued: "Sir, you look as if you desired to know where and when was the fourth time of my naturalization, and who were my sponsors? The consecrated spot on which I received the right of naturalization was the battle-ground of New Orleans; the altar was victory; the baptismal water was blood and fire; Andrew Jackson was my god-father; and patriotism, and freedom, and glory, were my god-mothers." The mighty mass of listeners rose spontaneously, and gave nine cheers for our gallant speaker. The coon was soon missing.

ADVANTAGE OF ADVERTISING.—The

New York Morning Post says: "A wealthy merchant of this city who has given more advertising to the press than any other merchant here, once told the editor of this paper that he commenced business with a determination to expend in advertising all his profits for the first two years, but that he soon found it impossible to do so; the faster he paid it out, the more he received, and could he have monopolized all the papers in the city, he would have been repaid ten fold."

WHAT AILS THE WHIGS?—Mr. Senator Mangum, Senator Pearce, Mr. ex-Senator Prentiss, John Minor Botts, and Tom Corwin, the wagon boys, are all sick—very sick—so that they cannot any longer

"Drink and sing and shout and shout
And frolic and frolic away,
And spend their nights in noise and rout
And screaming for Harry Clay!"

Farm for Sale.

THE undersigned take this method of informing the public that they wish to sell that fine farm lying on the main road leading from Woodsfield to Clarington, and nine miles from each town, known as the Conger farm. Said farm has every necessary improvement, a good Dwelling House, a good Barn and Stable, an Orchard of grafted fruit, meadow sufficient to produce one hundred dollars worth of hay each year. The situation is admirably adapted for a tavern stand, being near the point where all the roads to the river center. Come forward every one of you, and see the premises, and every attention shall be paid you; if we bargain, well, if not, no harm—But certain you shall have a good bargain for cash.

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

SHERMAN'S COUGH LOZENGES are the best, most pure and effectual remedy for Coughs, Colds, Consumptions, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Tightness of the Lungs or Chest, &c. &c. The proprietor has never known an instance where they did not give perfect relief. Several thousand boxes have been sold within the last year, restoring to health persons in almost every stage of consumption, and those laboring under the most distressing coughs and colds.

Jonathan Howarth, esq. the well known temperance lecturer, took a severe cold last January by sleeping in damp sheets, that seemed to have settled in a consumption. He raised a good deal of blood, and his cough was so harassing and incessant that he could get no rest by day or night. After trying various remedies without relief, he thought that death alone would relieve him of his misery. But by the advice of a lady he purchased a box of Sherman's Cough Lozenges; they gave him great relief, and to his surprise allayed his cough, made him rest easy, and enabled him to sleep sound all night; and his cough was so harassing and incessant that he could get no rest by day or night. After trying various remedies without relief, he thought that death alone would relieve him of his misery.
